Markets to get a soft-to-cautious start of the new week

The Indian markets ended a choppy session slightly higher in the last session. Today, the start is likely to be a bit cautious and weakness can be seen reacting to the industrial production data announced after market hours on Friday. Industrial output growth fell to 3.8 percent during the month of September from a revised 4.5 percent rise in August. However, the markets will keep buzzing and there will be action in GST related stocks whose rates were tinkered at GST Council's 23rd meeting in Guwahati. The Council decided to reduce the tax rate on 178 of the current 228 items from 28% to 18%, with effect from November 15. All restaurants will be taxed at 5%, except those in hotels with a tariff of ₹7,500 or more, which will be taxed at 18% with input tax credit (ITC). The PSU banking stocks will be in action, as Finance Minister Arun Jaitley has said that the government has decided to inject more capital into state-owned banks to strengthen the banking system and spur economic growth. Steel stocks too will be in focus as the export of total finished steel saw an annual jump of 45 per cent to 0.778 million tonnes during October 2017. The overall exports of finished steel stood at 0.537 million tonnes in the same month last year. There will some important result announcements too, to keep the markets buzzing.

Domestic Market Overview

Benchmarks manage to end marginally in green on Friday

Indian equity benchmarks managed to end the extremely volatile day of trade with modest gains on Friday, with frontline gauges holding their crucial 10,300 (nifty) and 33,300 (Sensex) levels. Markets altered between green and red throughout the session and somehow managed to end in positive zone, as traders took some comfort with Union Minister of State for Water Resources Arjun Ram Meghwal's statement that the agriculture sector's contribution to the country's GDP has increased under the present government's rule. Some support also came with the global president of the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA), Brian McEnery's statement that India has made significant strides towards ethical standards in business and enforcing provisions around corporate governance.

However, up-side remained capped as sentiments remained downbeat with Moody's Investors Service latest Global Macroeconomic Update (2018-19) stating that India is the only G20 emerging market country where growth has slowed sharply for six consecutive quarters. But it expects economic growth in 2017 to average 6.2% before accelerating to around 7.5% in 2018 and 2019. It said that the slowdown in economy was due to the temporary negative impact of last year's demonetization, temporary disruption related to the rollout of the Goods and Service Tax (GST) and weak bank lending for investment-related activity due to a high proportion of delinquent loans on bank balance sheets. Sentiments also remained dampened as the Congress-ruled states have sought a complete overhaul of the indirect tax regime with the highest slab at 18% instead of 28%. Meanwhile, the GST Council decided to keep only 50 items, mostly demerit, sin and luxury goods in top 28% tax bracket. Lower 18% GST will be levied on chewing gums, chocolates, after shave, deodorant, washing power, detergent, marble. The all-powerful council pruned the list of items attracting the top 28% tax rate to just 50 from 227 previously.

Auto stocks remained under pressure in today's trade as data released by the Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM) showed that the festive season failed to bring cheers to automobile manufacturers as domestic passenger vehicle sales dropped marginally in October, the first decline in four months with companies resorting to inventory correction. However, select stocks related to realty sector remained on buyers' radar, as the government in its bid to give a fillip to the housing sector and push construction activities has announced that central government employees can get loans up to Rs 25 lakh from the government under the house building advance (HBA) scheme, which is more than three times of the earlier norm.

Global Market Overview

Asian markets end mostly in red on Friday

Asian equity markets ended mostly lower on Friday as uncertainty on the US tax reform plan dented investors' sentiments and boosted demand for safe-haven assets such as gold and the Japanese yen. Japanese shares ended lower, with a stronger yen and losses in technology stocks weighing on markets. Meanwhile, Chinese shares ended higher after reports that China is considering expanding corporate tax cuts for high-tech service companies.

US markets closed mostly in red on Friday

The US markets ended mostly in red terrain on Friday, as traders digested the details of the Senate Republican version of tax reform legislation. The Senate bill includes some significant differences from the House version, including a delay in the implementation of a cut in the corporate tax rate. While the Senate version still reduces the corporate tax rate to 20 percent from 35 percent, the new rate would not take effect until 2019. The House bill would start the 20 percent rate next year. A number of other differences related to issues such as deductions and the estate tax have raised some questions about the outlook for tax reform. House Republicans could pass their version as early as next week, although it remains to be seen if GOP lawmakers can overcome the differences in the two bills to get legislation to the president's desk.

The Dow Jones lost 39.73 points or 0.17 percent to 23,422.21 and the S&P 00 was down by 2.32 points or 0.09 percent to 2,582.30, while the Nasdaq was up by 0.89 points or 0.01 percent to 6,750.94.

Economy

➤ IIP comes at 3.8% in September

India's annual industrial output growth, measured by index of industrial production (IIP) came at 3.8% in September compared to 4.3% in previous month. The cumulative growth for the period April-September 2017 over the corresponding period of the previous year stood at 2.5%.

➤ Note ban a temporary shock on growth; was for institutional cleansing: Bibek Debroy

A year after the promulgation of demonetisation, NITI Aayog member Bibek Debroy admitted that the note ban was a temporary shock on the country's growth, adding that the move was for the institutional cleansing and it should not be judged by a narrow cost-benefit calculus.

Debroy pointed that the negative effects of note ban have gone and the economy is recovering from this dip by showing improvements. Further listing out positive impact of the move, he said that excessive cash has now vanished from the system and came into the banks. He also added that the cash-to-GDP ratio has come down by almost one-third from earlier figure of almost 13 per cent, on account of demonetization.

NITI Aayog member also stressed that it would be unfair, if the move is evaluated with a narrow economic cost-benefit calculus as the aim of the move was not narrow economics. He further pointed that with economic lens, he will evaluate the costs and the benefits of the move in a certain way and with a political-economic kind of lens of cleansing up the system, he will evaluate it in a slightly different way. He added that in terms of economics, one will not have to wait too long as some data, like that of direct tax collections, would come out soon which would reflect demonetisation and help understand its implications.

➤ RBI announces simplified norms for hedging exchange rate risk

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has come out with simplified norms for hedging exchange rate risk on transactions, which allows companies to take exposure of up to $30 million or equivalent, on gross basis. In August 2016, the scheme of simplified hedging facility was first announced by the RBI and the draft scheme was released in April 2017. The facility for resident and non-resident entities (other than individuals) to hedge exchange rate risk on transactions, contracted or anticipated, permissible under Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA) will come into effect from January 1, 2018.

- In a notification, the RBI said that the scheme aims to simplify the process for hedging exchange rate risk by reducing documentation requirements, avoiding prescriptive stipulations regarding products, purpose and hedging flexibility. It also noted that the facility is also expected to encourage a more dynamic and efficient hedging culture. The products covered will be any Over the Counter (OTC) derivative or Exchange Traded Currency Derivative (ETCD) permitted under FEMA, 1999, except cost reduction structures and swaps.

The central bank further stated that if hedging requirement of the user exceeds the limit in course of time, the designated bank may re-assess and, at its discretion, extend the limit up to 150 percent of the stipulated cap. It also pointed out that banks should have an internal policy regarding the time limit up to which a hedge contract for a given underlying can be rolled-over or rebooked by the user.

➤ Govt emphasizes on need for raising demand for steel in India

In line with mounting production capacities, the government emphasized the need to raise the demand for steel in India. Besides, Sunil Barthwal, Joint Secretary at the Indian Ministry of Steel, has pointed out that if the domestic demand is falling slightly short, so the issue is that the domestic demand has to be raised. He also noted that the production capacities in the country are growing at a very good pace and have grown by 6.7 percent in the calendar year up to September in the last nine months.

Asserting that India now has become a net exporter of steel amid weak domestic demand, Barthwal has said that the country's steel products are being exported across the world, including advanced countries. He said "It is not just that we are selling (steel products) to Africa. We are selling it to the most advanced countries where they are competing with the best of the products." He also noted that other than demand, the government's focus was to make Indian steel industries globally competitive.

Earlier, the government had said that there was a need to create steel demand in line with the planned increase in capacities. It had also said that creating demand for 300 million tonnes of steel – the output target India is looking at by 2031, will be a big challenge. India's per capita steel consumption at 61 kg is much lower than the global average of 208 kg.

➤ Central government employees can get loans up to Rs 25 lakh under the HBA

The government in its bid to give a fillip to the housing sector and push construction activities has announced that central government employees can get loans up to Rs 25 lakh from the government under the house building advance (HBA) scheme, which is more than three times of the earlier norm.

As per the release from the Housing and Urban Affairs Ministry, which makes rules for HBA for central government employees from time to time, the central government employees can take advance upto Rs 25 lakhs for construction or purchase of house at a simple interest rate of 8.50 per cent, earlier, the maximum borrowing limit was Rs 7.50 lakh with interest rate slabs ranging from 6 per cent to 9.50 per cent. The employee can borrow upto 34 months of the basic pay subject to a maximum of Rs 25 lakhs, or cost of the house/flat, or the amount according to repaying capacity, whichever is the least for new construction/purchase of new house/flat.

The amount for expansion of the house has also been revised to a maximum of Rs 10 lakh against the earlier Rs 1.80 lakh. The cost ceiling limit of the house which an employee can construct/purchase has also been revised to Rs 1 crore with a provision of upward revision of 25 per cent. The earlier cost ceiling limit was Rs 30 lakh. Also, now both spouses, if they are central government employees, are eligible to take HBA either jointly, or separately, earlier, only one spouse was eligible for such facility. The methodology of recovery of the HBA will continue as per the existing pattern– recovery of principal first in the first 15 years in 180 monthly installments, and interest thereafter in next five years in 60 monthly installments.

➤ India's economic growth slowdown temporary: Moody's

Moody's Investors Service in its latest Global Macroeconomic Update (2018-19) has stated that India is the only G20 emerging market country where growth has slowed sharply for six consecutive quarters. But it expects economic growth in 2017 to average 6.2% before accelerating to around 7.5% in 2018 and 2019. It said that the slowdown in economy was due to the temporary negative impact of last year's demonetization, temporary disruption related to the rollout of the Goods and Service Tax (GST) and weak bank lending for investment-related activity due to a high proportion of delinquent loans on bank balance sheets. It added that the effects of demonetization and GST implementation will fade.

Terming government's capital infusion plan for state-controlled banks positive for economic growth, the rating agency said that it will help to break the negative loop of weak lending, weak investment, weak growth and weak balance sheets. It also said that despite progress on economic reforms and monetary policy easing, the flow of bank credit for investment activities has been hampered by both the inability of the banking sector to lend and weak demand for credit.

Moody's further noted that the reforms, including liberalization of foreign direct investment in key sectors and the GST, will increase efficiency, boosting trend growth. Resolving stressed corporate and bank balance sheets through bankruptcy, resolution and recapitalization would be an important step toward restarting the investment cycle and unlocking the benefits of the reforms. This amount of capital injection would allow banks to meet international standards of capital adequacy and, over time, grow lending.
